

---

Humans are responsible for the creation of God.

This system works for no one.

God thinks he can free mortals.

Perhaps now, Styx is certain.

God and Jesus are dead weights.

---

using software found on the dark web, input with a combination of ancient Greek, Arabic, the Runic Greek alphabet and Latin, it's understood the letter says God, Jesus and the Holy Ghost are "dead weights".

"God thinks he can free mortals," another part of the letter says.

the letter also alleges that God and Zoroaster were both invented by man, adding: "this system works for no one".

"Perhaps now, Styx is certain," the letter's also believed to say - making referencing to the mythological River Styx, which is believed to separate the Earth and the Underworld.

"God thinks he can free mortals. This system works for no one... Perhaps now, Styx is certain."

La Stampa: Così un algoritmo ha decifrato il mistero della "Lettera del diavolo"

"Perhaps now Certain Stige,"

"Because God the Christ Zoroaster follows the ancient ways and seams seized by men, Ohim."

"A God who feels free the mortals."

"Ohimé", the only comprehensible word in the document).

ohimé

oh me

~Sister Maria Crocifissa della Concezione

1676

translation: Daniele Abete

ludum science center

Live Science: Satan's Enigma: 'Possessed' Nun's 17th-Century Letter Deciphered

Ancient Origins: 17th Century Letter Allegedly Written by Possessed Nun Decoded For the First Time

On Fri, Sep 22, 2017 at 2:38 PM, will s.

The “perfect nun” is supposed to be devoted to God, pious, sing in choirs, and teach students. Then there are the other kinds of nuns, the antithesis of what nuns should be, those that have become popular in the horror genre. They are evil, possessed, and demonic, terrifying anyone who encounters them.

Historic Mysteries: Centuries to Read: Maria Crocifissa's Letter From the Devil